

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A recording apparatus of a helical scan system, including a first video head which records video signals on a magnetic tape when a running speed of the magnetic tape is a standard speed and a second video head which records video signals on the magnetic tape when the running speed of the magnetic tape is approximately $1/N$ of the standard speed, N being an integer larger than 3.